DETAILS REGARDING THE SHORT-TERM GAS TRANSMISSION SERVICES

1. Starting with the 1st of July 2013, TRANSGAZ offers short-term capacity products at the National Transmission System exit points up to 10% of the capacity remaining available at these points following the annual capacity booking process for gas year 2013-2014.

The capacity available at the National Transmission System exit points is published on TRANSGAZ's website at http://www.transgaz.ro/en/ecom_cap_teh_rezervata.php.

2. The difference between the capacity remaining available at each of the National Transmission System exit points following the annual capacity booking process for gas year 2013-2014 and 10% of these capacities, as stated at point 1, represent the capacity available for long-term services.

3. Between the 27th of June – the 28th of June 2013, network users may request capacity booking for one month or multiple months within the quarter 1st of July – 30th of September 2013.

4. Between the 1st of September – the 15th of September 2013, network users may request capacity booking for one quarter or multiple quarters – within the gas year – starting from the 1st of October 2013, the 1st of January 2014 or the 1st of April 2014.

5. Within day 20 and day 25 of each calendar month, starting with September 2013, network users may request capacity booking for one month or multiple months within the quarter 1st of October – 31st of December 2013, the quarter 1st of January – 31st of March 2014 and the quarter 1st of April – 30th of June 2014.

6. Capacity will be allocated based on the 'first come, first served' principle.

7. Short-term transmission contracts may contain additional clauses added to the Frame contract (Annex 1 to the Network Code), specific to the type of service contracted.

NOTE: The above will be valid until the implementation of the entry – exit capacity booking.
